Fr. Bob's Weekly Blog

"Rather, speaking the truth in love, we are to grow up in every way into him who is the head, into Christ, from whom the whole body, joined and knit together by every joint with which it is supplied, when each part is working properly, makes bodily growth and upbuilds itself in love." Ephesians 15: 15-16

This weekend we welcome to our parish Fr. Richard, who is this year's mission speaker.

Every year each parish throughout the Archdiocese of Chicago hosts a mission speaker. Doing this helps remind us that the Church we belong to is much larger than the building at 64th St. and New England Ave, much larger than just the Archdiocese of Chicago.

The word catholic means universal. Our Christian faith encompasses the four corners of the world. Within the Church there are many languages, many cultures, many skin tones, but only one Lord, who is Jesus Christ. Jesus gives us the Church as a means of salvation.

Listening to a mission speaker helps us think beyond Chicago; beyond Illinois; beyond the United States of America. No doubt, there are many needs in our own backyard, including our own families, but there are needs across the globe, and we do our part to assist the best we can.

In my experience, people have chosen specific charities in which to give. We can't possibly give to every charity, but we should have a few that we feel strongly about to the point we actively give either our money or our time.

Please consider giving generously to this year's mission, and give a warm welcome to Fr. Richard as he shares his message with us.

Busy Being Busy

"There is need of only one thing." Those are the words of Jesus in today's Gospel.

Only one? Please, Lord. Do tell!

In the great, grand scheme of things, the most important necessary thing in life is our proximity to Christ – how close we are to His Sacred Heart.

Think of how easy it is to get so busy we no longer have time to pray; or to attend to those things that nurture our soul. On our currency, it says "In God We Trust" but this could easily be changed today to "Go! Go! Go!"

We strive to find a healthy balance in our lives, but even within church ministry, we can easily slip into being busy for the sake of being busy. Busy-ness is often a mask for deeper spiritual ills. We stay busy because we don't want to get still or quiet and actually have to think about something we're consciously or subconsciously avoiding. Better to keep super busy.

Jesus reminds us today that when all is said and done, the thing that matters most is, in reality, not a thing, but a person – the second person of the Trinity. It is time spent with him that fuels our life. Martha was anxious. Things had to get done. Mary was simply resting at the feet of the Lord.

There is a saying, "Got everything done. Died anyway."

That saying, and this weekend's Gospel, should help put things in perspective for us. Our time on earth is limited. Our lives have purpose and meaning, only because we have a Creator, and we do well to keep an eternal view of things as we go about our daily life.

As Thomas Merton so insightfully wrote, "Anxiety is a sign of spiritual insecurity." We're anxious because we are not sure if we truly believe in what God has promised.

If we truly believe Jesus died and rose from the dead, and He promised eternal life to those who accept his sacrifice of love, we need not spend one minute anxious about what's going to happen.

We already know the end of the story. Light triumphs over darkness. Amen!

Quote of the Week:

"Worrying is carrying tomorrow's load with today's strength – carrying two days at once. It is moving into tomorrow ahead of time. Worrying doesn't empty tomorrow of its sorrow, it empties today of its strength."
– Corrie Ten Boom

Lazy Days

I don't know if anyone noticed, but summer happened. After a cool, wet spring that extended all the way to late June, temperatures climbed and the sun came out. At least for several hours most days, occasional thunderstorms notwithstanding.

We've noticed because, even for our city-dwelling family, summer means more time spent outdoors, whether in our backyard at family parties, traveling or just Teresa spending her days traipsing from YMCA to park to library as part of day camp.

Frank went camping overnight with friends for possibly the first time ever, and succeeded in both grilling hamburgers for his friends and lighting a campfire (with the help of the people in a neighboring campsite, who lent him a lighter).

Teresa and I traveled to Iowa for a family reunion on the farm where my grandmother (her great-grandmother) grew up. The reunion, to celebrate the 100th birthday of the historic round barn on the property, drew people from Iowa and Illinois, but also Georgia, Texas, California and Montana.

There she met lots of relatives she didn't know before, including 11-year-old twins who welcomed her to their grandparents' home and included her in everything from Nerf gun fights to croquet and Bananagrams. And took great delight in informing her that no, that's not mud in the sheep pen. That's a concrete floor covered in ... well, you know. The under-12 set found it hilarious.

Last weekend, Tony and I took the girls to Arlington International Racecourse to watch a few races and place a few bets. With $2 wagers all around, we ended up slightly ahead on betting, although not enough to cover admission and what we spent on refreshments.

Still, for me much of the value was in spending the afternoon outside, sharing a bench along with our popcorn and racing program, going to rail with Teresa to cheer our horses on as they came down the stretch and then jogging over to the winner's circle to see if Teresa could snag a pair of signed goggles from the winning jockey. No luck this time, but it was fun all the same.

This is summer for us: A time to enjoy the outdoors and enjoy one another's company. When I think we are being lazy (and yes, the back door to the garage still needs a coat of paint), I look at what Jesus told his disciples and at the example he set.

When things got hectic, he would go away for a while. We see it in some Gospel readings, when Jesus tells the apostles, "Come away by yourselves to a deserted place and rest a while" (Mk 6:31).

If you read on, the "rest" part doesn't work out so well; the people figure out where they're going and meet them there, and Jesus divides the loaves and fishes to feed the multitude.

I guess that means that we still have to make dinner.

Our Catholic Faith

By Fr. Bob Regan

“Go therefore and make disciples of all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit, teaching them to observe all that I have commanded you; and behold, I am with you always, to the close of the age.” Matthew 28:19-20

Joy is the infallible sign of the presence of God.

Those are the words of Christian theologian Pierre Teilhard de Chardin. And those words reveal one of the good fruits of the Holy Spirit – JOY.

One of Chicago’s retired auxiliary bishops is Raymond Goedert. He’s been around for quite some time. He’s actually one of the survivors of the Andrea Doria shipwreck. He’s lived quite a life as a priest in the Archdiocese of Chicago.

When he presides at a Confirmation, he usually has a stock homily he uses, in which he introduces the young children to the word joy. He then tells them his stand for Jesus, Others, and You. Bishop Goedert gives them an ordering to their life, and now, to our life as well.

J = Jesus is first. Number One. O = love means willing the good of the other. When the love of Christ drives our life, we concern ourselves with the well-being of others. Y = You are important, after all, you are made in the image and likeness of God.

This somewhat folksy play on letters actually makes a lot of sense to a Christian disciple, which is what we are, or aspire to be.

When the presence of God disappears from one’s life – or from one’s home, or parish, or church or society, the inevitable result is sadness (not sorrow). Far too many people today actually believe society would be better off if we dismissed the whole God thing. I vehemently disagree.

We need God. God does not need us. Only human pride and arrogance can actually say the human person is better off without God.

Think of it this way – materially we are subject to the Law of Gravity. We defy it at risk to our physical life. Spiritually, we are subject to the Law of Love (God). We defy it at risk to our soul.

Slapping a fake smile on our face amidst real internal pain and suffering is no substitute for the fruit of joy that emerges from being in a life-giving, soul-enriching relationship with the Lord. We can fake a smile. We can’t fake joy.

And joy is the infallible sign of the presence of God.

Jesus. Others. You.

If you leave Jesus out, and put yourself first, all you are left with is “YO!”

A Prayer for “Renew My Church”

Lord Jesus, you speak to us today,
as you spoke to holy men and women who have gone before us.
In every age and in our own time,
you call to us and say: Renew My Church.
Pour out the gift of your Holy Spirit upon us,
and so enable us

to hear you clearly to listen to each other attentively
to imagine our future boldly to discern your direction wisely
to persevere in your holy will courageously to stay together in charity to surrender our own plans readily to embrace the greater good to hand on your gifts to future generations.

May we remain in the holy company of the Blessed Virgin Mary, the apostles and all the saints.
May their example and presence
inspire us with patient confidence in the work of your grace.
We ask this of you who live and reign
with the Father
in the unity of the Holy Spirit, one God, forever and ever. Amen

Summer Time / Family Time

The heat of summer is upon us! It's Vacation Time! We may try to think of ways to spend time with our children, Family Time! One of the greatest gifts we can give is the gift of time. If you ask some adults what meant the most to them growing up, you will often hear good memories of people "who had time for them". Given the fast pace of today's society, what might be some ways that you can build just a little more family time into your lives? These are just a few simple ways to show you care:

Sunday Mass

Remember to put God in the First place and everything else will be in the right place.

The Family Meal

Do everything you can to sit at the dinner table together. This can be a relaxed time when the family can talk about the day and just enjoy being together.

Family Traditions

These need not be elaborate. Children look forward to helping bake cookies etc. A family BBQ, a Picnic or a day at the Beach/Pool or any other activities that the family does together routinely.

Bring on the Board Games

Even young children enjoy sitting around a board game and playing as a family. This is also a great opportunity to help your child learn to be a good sport and have fun whether winning or losing.

Be present and available to listen

In order for children to want to talk with parents, it is important for the parents to be available. Whether riding in a car, sitting on the couch, or just hanging out together, it is important to provide opportunities for children to share what's on their minds.

Take a hike or bike ride

Enjoy a short hike or bike ride as a family. This is a no-cost way, not only to stay healthy, but also to build family memories.

Your family may already be creating great memories of times together. If you are, know that you are giving your child an invaluable gift. Your time is a more precious gift to your child than you could ever imagine.

Blessings!

Let Your Light Shine!

If you are reading this, you are most probably interested in nurturing and exploring your own faith and possibly sharing it with others. So, if you have faith to share and want to fulfill your Baptismal commitment, how about considering being a Catechist for the young people enrolled in our Faith Formation Program?

Feeling inadequate? Please know that all of your materials are prepared for you and you also have the opportunity to meet with the Coordinator of our Faith Formation Program for a complete planning session and to answer any questions or concerns you may have.

As registration continues and more students are added to classrooms, there is a possibility of our need for more Catechists. If you are able to make the commitment please call Peggy in our parish office. As our needs change, you might be called upon! May God graciously reward your wonderful generosity of spirit.

St. Mary Magdalene—July 22

Mary Magdalene was one of Christ's disciples. She has been identified with several Marys in the Gospel: Mary, the sister of Martha and Lazarus; Mary, the sinner who washed Jesus' feet with her tears; Mary, a woman who cared for Jesus and his apostles on their journey. Today scholars believe that Mary Magdalene was not the sinful woman in Scripture although she has been confused with this unnamed woman for centuries.

So Mary Magdalene was near Jesus in his darkest hour and again in his most glorious hour. Moreover, she was an outstanding disciple of Jesus. Because Mary Magdalene was the one who brought the news of Jesus' resurrection to the apostles, she is called the Apostle to the Apostles. For centuries St. Mary Magdalene has been considered a model of complete generosity and of sincere sorrow for sin.
